Pagan Christianity?: Exploring the Roots of Our Church ...

While today we often use the word pagan to describe those who claim no religion whatsoever, to the early Christians, pagans were those polytheists who followed the gods of the Roman Empire. Paganism dominated the Roman Empire until the fourth century, and many of its elements were absorbed by Christians in the first half of the first millennium, particularly during the Constantinian and early post-

I respect your hard work and research but it is important that you recognise the main pagan roots, such as idol worship, human deities, worshiping priest, offering blood, gold and human sacrifices. Please research what is paganism first you will be shocked. All you did is tried to lower Christianity which will not help the unbelievers.
